Molly and Carly on the way to a new life together!

Hi

My name is Carly C. and I adopted Molly the 4-5 year old Dalmatian who was fostered by Jim P. Tomorrow I will have had her for one week and I know I haven't had her long at all but I feel like I have had her forever. When I met Jim to pick Molly up she was a little scared and unsure of what was going on. We drove back to Twin Falls, Idaho and when we got home she fell in love with her toy hedgehog, Herbie. This was the start of her squeaky toy obsession. (At least with me).

I am 22 years old and moved out to Twin Falls, Idaho about 3 weeks ago. I moved out here for a job and don't know anyone. I have planned on getting a dog for a very long time and have always wanted a Dalmatian. Somehow when I saw Molly's picture on Facebook I just knew I had to have her. She is everything I could have ever wanted and more. This move and transition has been difficult for me and I have been very lonely living alone, 20 hours away from friends and family. Molly has made me so much happier and I feel more comfortable living alone.

She is the sweetest girl and loves to cuddle. She has her head on my lap right now. I may jinx myself but we have not had any issues with our transition and I am so happy it has gone so well. She has adjusted very well. She was already house trained and crate trained but getting a new owner is a big transition.

Every day we go running together and she does very well. She pulls a little when she gets very excited about other dogs and people so we are working on that. She does well on and off the leash at the dog park. She loves playing with other dogs, especially small ones. At home she loves to play with squeaky toys! My ears start to hurt after a while but she is so happy, it's hard to take them away. She has destroyed her hedgehog, monkey, and star squeaky toys all in one week so they no longer squeak and are just ripped up. She still loves and plays with them though. Molly also has a cliché red fire hydrant squeaky toy... it's the only one she hasn't destroyed (yet). She has tennis balls which she enjoys chasing for a little bit. Most of all Molly loves to cuddle! She always wants to be with you and by your side. She loves to sleep in bed and thinks she should be on the couch but the couch is off limits. Although her cute little face is hard to resist.

Whenever people see her they always comment on how pretty and sweet she is. I believe Molly is happy as her tail is always wagging. I am very happy and thankful for what you all do and for helping me find not only such a great dog but a best friend.

Thank you for all your hard work and for Molly!

The only toy I have not destroyed (yet)!

I love me some ice cream... the cone's not too bad either!

More chew toys!!!

So happy I can't even chew on my toys!

Herbie is my favorite of all the toys!! ☺

My favorite activity... snuggles with my new Mom!!
