

Mackenzie

(aka Tia2)

Hello, we are the Day family. We currently have two female Dalmatians. Our first dog is named Blaze, she joined our family in the year 2004. Shortly after my parents had gotten married. I had always wanted a dog, and after my parents wed, my wish came true. She is a great member of the family. I always play with her and cherish every moment with her. We have recently added to our family again. She is also a female, Dalmatian mix and we renamed her to Mackenzie. We love our two dogs so much, they are a big part of our life and family.

When we got Blaze she was very energetic and loved to play. She would like to drag away our clothes, when we weren't looking, if they were on the floor. She loves attention, and still does. She is mellow, one of her favorite places to lay down and sleep is by the stairs. At about 10:00 a.m. the sun would shine to the top of the stairs and she would lay there forever. She is a very big daddy's girl, she will not go anywhere that her dad is not. She loves to lay on the couch between Mom and Dad during the evening.

We had gotten Mackenzie on June 16, 2013. She loved us at first sight, as did we. She picked up on our way of life very quickly. Same with all new dogs she had to be trained on how to behave around company, where she sleeps and when to be fed. But, it did not take long, she loves to play and be around her family. Of course she has her quirks, she loves to lick a lot, she playfully nibbles on your fingers, and she doesn't like it when you leave her alone for a while. But, she is learning not to lick as much, or nibble, or whine when we leave.

For a while we were just used to having Blaze as the only dog in our life. Now we have this whole new family member. The two dogs get along great now. At first they had one spat, but they were just getting used to each other's boundaries. We had originally gotten Makenzie as a playmate for Blaze. Blaze is getting older. My dad had just started a new job, he used to work from home and she would see him all day. Now he has to get to the office every day he works. Like I said, she is getting older and more alone. Now she is more lively. Every time Mackenzie goes upstairs or outside, Blaze has to follow her to see what she is doing now.

All in all, we are happy with our family. We all get along great, it however, is different with two dogs. We love Blaze, she was our first dog and is always loved. Now we have Mackenzie and we love her just as much. The dogs get along all day every day. You can see a little bit of sibling rivalry in a way (pet me, no you pet me first). We are happy with our dgos, they complete the family.
