

Yodie

(aka Madison)

This is Yodie. Dalmatian rescue name "Madison". I adopted her in August of 2013 because my basset hound, Elmer, was lonely after his older brother (a dachshund) died. She was adopted out of Missouri, back when I lived there, but she has since been relocated back to Colorado and now resides with me and her big brother in Grand Junction. Yodie has many names: Yodles, Pookie Bear, Pook, Pookie McPookerson, YodleBug, I could go on... but I won't.

I'm not sure what she's mixed with, I've been assuming she's a Dalmatian-Shepherd mix for to her thick long fur and pointy ears, but really who knows. She definitely has dallie in her though! She is covered in spots, but most you can't see unless you dig through her fur.

She is very smart. I can teach her tricks in one sitting, but her favorite trick is "spin" where she twirls around in a circle. She starts every trick with that one first. I kind of regret teaching it to her! Just kidding.

She's very well-behaved, doesn't bark, and is very sweet. She's not a huge fan of her big brother, but they play sometimes and tolerate each other well. She's very skittish around loud noises, or weird noises. She's afraid of fireworks, thunderstorms, the fire alarm *even when it just chirps), sprinkler systems, the vacuum, and putting dishes away. She's very playful and athletic and hangs out of the car window on rides.

I love her to pieces!! Thank you, Dalmatian Rescue, for my second little spotted love bug!

– Rana W.

Yodie was a shark last Halloween!

Yodie and her big brother, Elmer.

The closest they ever get to each other.

Wet dog! Yodie after a bath.

Yodie meets a trout!